CAPT. MATSON REFUSES TO ALLOW STEAMERS AT KUHIO WHARF, HILO

Gives Reason of Danger in Letter to Honolulu Chamber of Commerce

Capt. William Matson, head of the Matson Navigation Company, definitely refuses to allow the company's steamers to use the Kuhio wharf, Hilo, for the present.

In a letter received by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, he points out the danger to large vessels as follows:

"San Francisco, Aug. 16, 1916. 'Chamber of Commerce, Honolulu, T. H. Gentlemen: Regarding the Kuhio Bay wharf.

"I have already advised Mr. Forbes of my views regarding this wharf. If the wharf was so built that the ship could come in head on and back out when through, or should weather conditions necessitate it, I would not object to the steamer's coming into a little basin and have no towboat to handle them, and have to breast all the way around. The same conditions exist in leaving the wharf. Therefore I do not consider it a safe place for a large ship to go to, and naturally cannot allow any of the steamers of the Matson Navigation Company to go there until I consider the wharf absolutely safe.

"Before you can expect steamers to go there in safety the wharf will have to be built out toward Hilo, so the steamers can enter head on, or the harbor commissioner should have a good-sized towboat to go alongside the ship to take her in, and also when she leaves there."

"Very truly yours, 'WILLIAM MATSON.' (S.)

SEATTLE PLACED IN QUARANTINE WHILE HERE

Because of a death which occurred August 20, two days out from Yokohama, the O. S. K. steamer Seattle, which arrived here today from the Orient, en route to San Francisco, will be kept in close quarantine during her stay here. It is expected that she will sail Thursday noon for San Francisco and will not take mail. For Honolulu she had 13 bags of mail.

According to the ship's doctor, a Japanese, Ushi Takara, died of beriberi August 20 and was buried at sea. So far as could be found by Dr. F. E. Trotter, chief quarantine officer, there is no case of cholera on the Seattle Maru, but in order to thoroughly safeguard Honolulu he has decided to permit none of the passengers or officers to come ashore and no one is allowed to visit the steamer. While here the Seattle Maru will be kept at the quarantine wharf, where the freight consigned to Honolulu will be discharged and the 113 steerage passengers booked here will be taken off. There are no first-cabin passengers for Honolulu. Through passengers numbered six first-cabin and 54 steerage.

The 113 steerage passengers, all Asiatics, will be taken to quarantine island, as were those from the Nippon Maru, and there kept until tests have been made to ascertain if there are any cholera carriers among them. If not they will be released and turned over to the immigration officials.

Freight on the Seattle Maru for Honolulu was 871 tons, a large part of which was rice, and freight for San Francisco is 305 tons.

The Seattle Maru arrived at Kona August 12 and left on the 15th. She arrived at Yokohama August 16 and sailed from there for Honolulu one day later. The report from those towns was very similar in regard to the cholera cases as was that of the Nippon Maru.

The fleet and in all probability all of the vessels will be placed in service on the Pacific coast. They are being built at Toledo, O., and have been named Starline, Moonline, Twilite, Dawnline, Sunline and Dayline.

When the T. K. K. steamer Tenyo Maru arrives here Friday she will have a new first officer. He is Shintai, the captain of the Kiyo Maru. Capt. K. Ocasaki, first officer of the Tenyo Maru, has been given command of the Kiyo Maru by virtue of his seniority in the T. K. K. service.

The Inter-Island steamer Maui from Kaula ports arrived here this morning with 51 cabin and 34 deck passengers. Cargo brought was 5000 bags of sugar, 19 cases of pears and 84 packages of sundries. She reported light trade winds and a smooth sea outward and fresh trades and moderate seas inward.

With a total cargo of 7785 tons the Manoa left San Francisco Tuesday for Honolulu. She will arrive here Tuesday, September 5. Of the total cargo, 6402 tons is for Honolulu and 1382 for Kaula. According to John H. Drew, manager of the shipping department of Castle & Cooke, there are still 20,000 tons waiting shipment at San Francisco. This, however, does not include the local San Francisco freight which is constantly coming in.

PRICES SHRINK FOLLOWING BAD MAINLAND NEWS

Adverse strike news and lower sugar prices combined to bring out a large number of selling orders in the local stock market. Lower prices were the natural result of such orders, though the offerings were well absorbed and declines were not large. Sales between boards were 1912 shares and at the session they were 1115, bringing the total over 2000 for the day.

Olaa sold down from $17.75 to $17.12½ and Oahu to $31. Other prices were: Hawaiian Sugar $44.50, Ewa $34.75, Pioneer $22.50, Hawaiian Commercial $50.50, C. Brewer & Co. $47.50 for 35 shares, and Pineapple $49.50. Ten Olaa 6 per cent bonds sold at 102. In contrast with the market for sugar stocks was that for unlisted securities where some advances and no declines were noted. Mountain King was 75 cents and 150 shares sold; Mineral Products remained at 95 cents on sales of 1250 shares; Engels Copper was stronger at $2.57 on a sale of 80 shares and 500 shares of Oil sold at $2.05.
